Welcome to Fellowship Square

Families free to frolic and have fun in new Fellowship fountain

The iconic Waltham Forest Town Hall reopens to residents on 16 July with the unveiling of Fellowship Square, a brand-new outdoor space that is larger than Trafalgar Square and features new flowerbeds and seating around 144 illuminated water jets.

To celebrate the opening of Fellowship Square, the Council will host a year-round cultural programme for residents, beginning with a season of weekend events between 17 July and 14 August. The Fellowship Square Summer Season features music, comedy, poetry, art, crafts, food and fashion to welcome visitors of all ages to enjoy the new space, celebrating the talents of local people and the broader artistic community.

Leader of the Council Clare Coghill said: "I am so delighted to be able to welcome the most important guests of all to our opening events – our residents. We want Fellowship Square to be a place where residents feel welcome, and we have worked hard to create

> The reopening of Waltham Forest Town Hall and Fellowship Square brings the diverse communities of Waltham Forest back together

Fellowship Square brings the diverse communities of Waltham Forest back together in a shared and safe space after a challenging year for so many, building on the legacy of the Borough of Culture 2019 and the long history of Waltham Forest as a cultural destination.

As the Town Hall reopening drew closer, local residents expressed their excitement about Fellowship Square. Commenting on Facebook, Faye Neil said: "Looks brilliant can't wait to take my boys there, gonna love it", while Patty Bass said: "You'll find me there a lot more in the future! Thrilled to check it out soon!"

Fellowship Square is inspired by the words and legacy of the legendary designer William Morris, who was born and lived in the borough. The ambition is to bring the council closer to the community it serves.

The music for the water feature was co-curated following a competition for residents to select songs under the theme of family. One of the winners, Margaret Darlow, chose Our House by Madness, and said: "Our house, in the middle of our street, tells of a happy, chaotic family life full of love."

Family Tree by Ramz was chosen by Christopher Elliot Reid, who said: "It's a good song because Waltham Forest is my community."

The winners of the music competition will be present on 15 July, where two local primary school children rather than a specially invited VIP will officially open Fellowship Square's fountain, as a symbol of the Council's new approach to how the community can and should work and to its commitment to investing in the future of Waltham Forest.

Following the reopening, the wider redevelopment of the area surrounding the Town Hall building will commence, creating a new neighbourhood in the heart of the borough. Plans include approximately 500 new and affordable homes, prioritised for local residents, alongside landscaped outdoor spaces and new opportunities for leisure and entertainment.

Thrilled to check it out soon!

From the Leader — This amazing borough is destined to thrive

To be made the first-ever female leader of Waltham Forest Council in May 2017 and see the borough achieve so much fills me with pride. But after fulfilling the ambitions I set when I became leader, now is the time for me to stand aside and I will not be seeking re-election next year.

This has been the most rewarding, fulfilling, and exciting journey of my life, and when I look back over the last four years I am constantly reminded of the joy and confidence being crowned the Mayor of London's first-ever Borough of Culture brought to the people of this great borough.

We achieved the long-held ambition of getting the government to see the desperate need for a new hospital at Whipps Cross. At long last, the wonderful staff who have been even more heroic during the pandemic will get to care for the people of our borough in state-of-the-art facilities. The life chances of our young people have always been a priority for me. It is amazing to watch our Children's Services department improve, and I was so pleased when the team's hard work resulted in OFSTED rating us as 'good' with 'outstanding' leadership in 2019.

The hard work of our social workers and those who assist them across many services often goes unnoticed. One of my favourite things about being leader was being able to see first-hand the hard work, skill and dedication to support the most vulnerable in our society, as was evident when our social workers enabled the first prosecution for FGM in the country.

I cannot say goodbye without mentioning the huge contribution my predecessor, Chris Robbins CBE, made to not only the work of this council but to the people of the borough as a whole. His recent passing was a shock to us all and Waltham Forest continues to mourn a legend.

Council officers have been selfless on the frontline through the pandemic, making sure our most vulnerable residents are kept safe, that children continue to learn, and that our businesses and high streets are well placed to recover economically. I have seen the effort and energy they put in day in, day out.

I am absolutely confident that, even as I depart, improvements will continue and the Council will build on its status as one of the most progressive, forward-thinking, and bravest local authorities in the UK.

This borough's real strength is its amazing, diverse, and talented residents: artists, makers, doers, creatives, and radicals all coming together in fellowship to create something unique. Thank you so much for giving me this opportunity Waltham Forest, I will miss you all.

My final message is simple: Please get vaccinated. You can book directly at bit.ly/WFLibraryVaccine

Putting the trees into the Forest

Every local primary school child offered chance to plant their very own sapling in the first Great Waltham Forest Tree Giveaway

Hundreds of young deciduous trees will be handed out this autumn to be planted in people's own gardens and suitable public spaces.

The children can choose from one of eight species including wild cherry, hawthorn, crab apple, and hazel.

Cllr Clyde Loakes, Deputy Leader and Cabinet Member for the Environment, said the children will be able to enjoy their tree's progress.

He said: "Over the next few years they will be able to watch their tree grow and hopefully thrive as it takes nasty toxins out of the air, grows improved canopy coverage and gives all kinds of wonderful wildlife a place to live and a source of food."

The idea for the promotion came out of the council's Climate Emergency Commission, which was set up to advise on steps that residents and organisations in the borough can do to reduce their impact on the environment.

Each child will receive an FAQ with info about their tree, including details about their size and habitat.

Nine out of ten people who took part in a survey said they wanted to see more trees in the borough

The young trees themselves will be delivered in November in time for National Tree Week, between Sunday 28 November and Monday 6 December 2021, when the planting will take place.

The eight species we're giving out as part of the first Great Waltham Forest Giveaway are:

Blackthorn – This thorny tree produces white flowers in early spring, and provides a valuable source of pollen for bees and pollinators.

Bird cherry – Blackbirds and song thrushes love the red-black cherries. Look out for its beautiful golden-yellow autumn leaves.

Wild cherry – Enjoy beautiful clouds of blossom in spring, and bright summer fruits. Its warm autumn leaves fade to a deep crimson, giving your garden a warm glow.

Crab apple – A wild ancestor of cultivated apples. Birds including fieldfare and thrushes and small mammals like mice love the fruits.

Hawthorn – Delicate pink-white blossom in spring and ruby-red berries in summer. This amazing tee can support over 300 species of insect!

Hazel – Hazel has a reputation as a magical tree that provides protection. The tree is particularly associated with the hazel dormouse.

Holly – Holly provides birds like the mistle thrush with food and shelter from winter storms and predators. It is also one of the main food plants for the holly blue butterfly caterpillar.

Rowan – The flowers are a pollen and nectar source for bees and other pollinating insects, while the berries are eaten by birds.

East London Out Project helps make Waltham Forest home for Harriet

Local DJ and Kiss FM Weekday Breakfast presenter Harriet Rose talks about life in Waltham Forest, Pride, prejudice, Love Island, sign language and being relentlessly busy

"Living in a place where I can be myself, queer and where holding hands with a girl is normal" is one of the reasons why Kiss FM Breakfast Show presenter Harriet Rose has called Waltham Forest home over the past four years.

The Stratford-upon-Avon born radio host, DJ, and mental health and LGBTQIA+ advocate recently took time out between work, volunteering, and a curtailed daily workout to catch up over Zoom.

"I can leave my keys with my neighbours here. It's full of such a wonderful variety of people of all ages, cultures, religions, sexualities and somewhere I feel safe and part of the community."

"At the same time, I know that's not the case for everybody" Rose adds, stressing that her experiences do not speak for anybody else's.

> "This group makes me happy. I want us to do more together."

"As a cis white queer woman, I am in a privileged position. There are many LGBTQIA+ folks who are discriminated against for their non-binary identity and their sexuality, and are also impacted by racism, ableism, transphobia and other factors."

Getting up for a 5am Kiss Breakfast, Rose would be forgiven for taking it easy in the evening. However, Rose lives at a fast pace, including volunteering for a weekly women's group with the local East London Out Project (ELOP) - a local charity that provides social, emotional and support services across the spectrum LGBTQIA+.

"The ELOP Women's group is an amazing space. Everybody gets to talk about what they're going through but we always find ways to escape. We've actually been learning sign language recently."

For someone so passionate about the friendships formed through this group, it's with surprise that Rose says the group have yet to meet in person.

"When the pandemic hit, ELOP shut its doors and opened up online. I am absolutely buzzing to meet everyone in person. This group makes me happy. I want us to do more together."

When provided with details about the Council's No Space for Hate programme, including that over 200 residents have learned how to spot and stop discriminatory and violent behaviour through Bystander Intervention training, Rose immediately volunteers herself for the training.

"That sounds great, I'd love to do that!" In a fast-paced chat, during which Rose also asks to be introduced to Waltham Forest Women Take Back the Streets, Rose explains how hard-earned her success has been.

"Getting the role as Breakfast presenter at Kiss FM has definitely been my big break." It follows over a decade of hard work DJing and pursuing other projects,

> There are many LGBTQIA+ folks who are discriminated against for their non-binary identity and their sexuality, and are also impacted by racism, ableism, transphobia and other factors

but her success looks like is snowballing. "I'm so excited to announce that I'll also hosting Heat magazine's Under the Duvet, a Love Island Panel Show which starts on 1 July!"

"I wanted to be an actress, but I quickly realised that I wanted to be myself. I want to work on things I'm passionate about and that invoke social change."

It's with this in mind that Rose is busy amplifying Pride Month. "Pride Month is so important as we are always learning. I've been interviewing LGBTQIA+ people, collaborating with fashion brands and featuring the people who fought for the rights that we have now."

"It's so nice to be busy doing gay stuff. We've got Pride happening in London in September. It's non-stop. If you think about it, summer is for the gays hun!"

Youth voices: We need to make sure we are listening to young people

Judging by the 2019 general election turnout, you might believe young voters aren't interested in politics.

Jess Tunks on Streetbase patrol

But take a look at social media and you'd realise how wrong you are. From the Climate Emergency to Black Lives Matter young people are connected and excited.

It's not just online. Streetbase Waltham Forest, a programme funded by the GLA Young Londoners Fund and run by the council to help tackle violent crime, knows just how potent these voices are.

So, why are the young so silent at the ballot box? Three key factors make it daunting to young people: representation, accessibility, and action.

This is where Streetbase comes in.

Key to its success is that the Streetbase team approaches young people, rather than waiting for young people to come to them.

The similarity in age creates an environment in which young people feel able to express views without fear of judgment.

One of the most frequent questions the Streetbase team is asked by young people is: "Is any of this going to make a difference?"

To truly empower a community, it is necessary to engage with all its members. The youth voice is there, we just need to make sure we are listening

It's a good question. Responses are fed back to the council. Information on their interests is added to a database that connects them to opportunities offered in their area.

Their opinions are are fed back to senior council managers and councillors so that conversations held with young people help make decisions and shape policy.

To truly empower a community, it is necessary to engage with all its members. The youth voice is there, we just need to make sure we are listening.

Support for carers in Waltham Forest

In Waltham Forest it is estimated that there are more than 26,000 unpaid carers amongst our residents. If you aren't an unpaid carer yourself, you probably know one. But would you know how to access support if you needed it?

Unpaid or unofficial carers are people, usually but not always family members, who help to look after an adult who needs support.

This could include a wife looking after their husband with Parkinson's, a young person helping their disabled parent, or someone going next door to drop off shopping for their elderly neighbour.

Three in five of us will become a carer in our life for the people we care about, but that doesn't mean it's not difficult sometimes.

In Waltham Forest we offer all unpaid carers access to support including managing finances, mental health, carers assessments, hospital discharge, legal issues and more.

Cllr Khevyn Limbajee, Cabinet Member for Adults' Services, said: "We know that about 10 per cent of the population of Waltham Forest are currently unpaid carers for a loved one, and of that number about 5,000 are giving more than fifty hours per week to look after the person who relies on them.

"It is vital to ensure our carers in Waltham Forest know how to access the support they need. Please make sure you let the carers in your life know they can go to the Carers First website or call 0300 303 1555 for help or advice."

Support available

Support for adult carers in Waltham Forest is provided by Carers First. Carers First run a dedicated telephone support service for carers, Monday to Thursday 9am - 5pm and Fridays 9am - 4:30pm.

They can tailor a programme of support according to what you need in one or more of the following areas:

- Looking after yourself
- Carers assessments
- Taking breaks/wellbeing
- Getting financial support
- Help with everyday tasks
- Planning ahead
- Handling legal matters
- Managing work or education
- Peer support

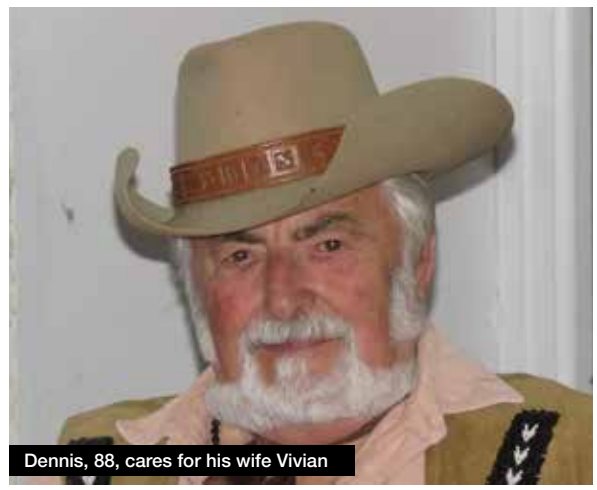
Case study

Dennis, 88, cares for his wife Vivian who has dementia. They have been married for 63 years after first meeting on a blind date on a motorcycle.

It all started seven years ago on a weekly trip to Sainsbury's when Vivian couldn't remember her PIN number. The doctor sent Vivian for some tests which resulted in a diagnosis of dementia. Within a year, Vivian's short and long-term memory had declined significantly.

Dennis has been Vivian's full-time carer for the past six years. This has been incredibly challenging, with Dennis taking on all household duties, including cooking which he had never done before. Vivian became dependent on Dennis and would get distressed if he left her sight. A self-described extrovert, Dennis had previously often gone out at weekends either volunteering at a Ferret Rescue Centre or helping with Birds of Prey shows. This all stopped.

Dennis says: "It feels like life stopped with Vivian's diagnosis. Every day is the same and I often feel depressed. We always used to have something to aim for and we don't anymore."



Dennis, 88, cares for his wife Vivian

Lockdown shrunk Dennis's world even further and his most regular contact was with an Age UK Befriender who called once a week. This was when he was introduced to Carers First.

Dennis joined the weekly Dementia Carers Virtual Coffee Break group which currently meets on Zoom. Dennis says: "The group has been a lifeline for me. We have a good laugh, even if I am the only man in the group. It helps to chat to people in a similar situation to me and hear different ideas on caring for someone with dementia."

Life is not easy for Dennis but he remains committed to caring for Vivian, staying true to the vows he made 63 years ago.

Parks are a playground for everyone

What's your favourite local park?

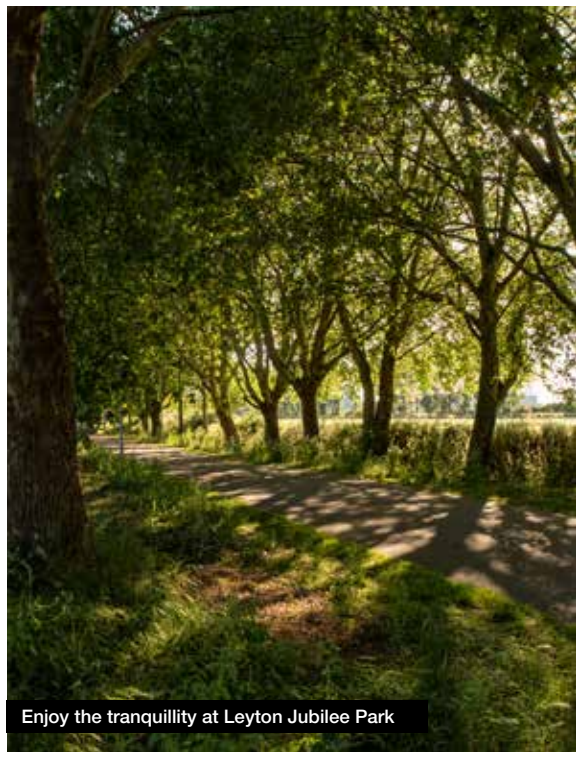
The past year has added a special dimension to our appreciation of Waltham Forest's parks, gardens, and other green spaces.

They have been a lifeline for many of us, from being a space for our daily exercise, as a place of reflection, and a meeting venue to catch up with friends and family in a safe space.

For this year's Love Parks Week 2021 (July 23 – August 1) we are putting on a range of free events for families and adults where you can explore new places, rediscover old friends, and even give back some of the joy you get from parks through volunteer opportunities. We'll have the full line-up ready very soon – keep an eye on our social media channels for more announcements.

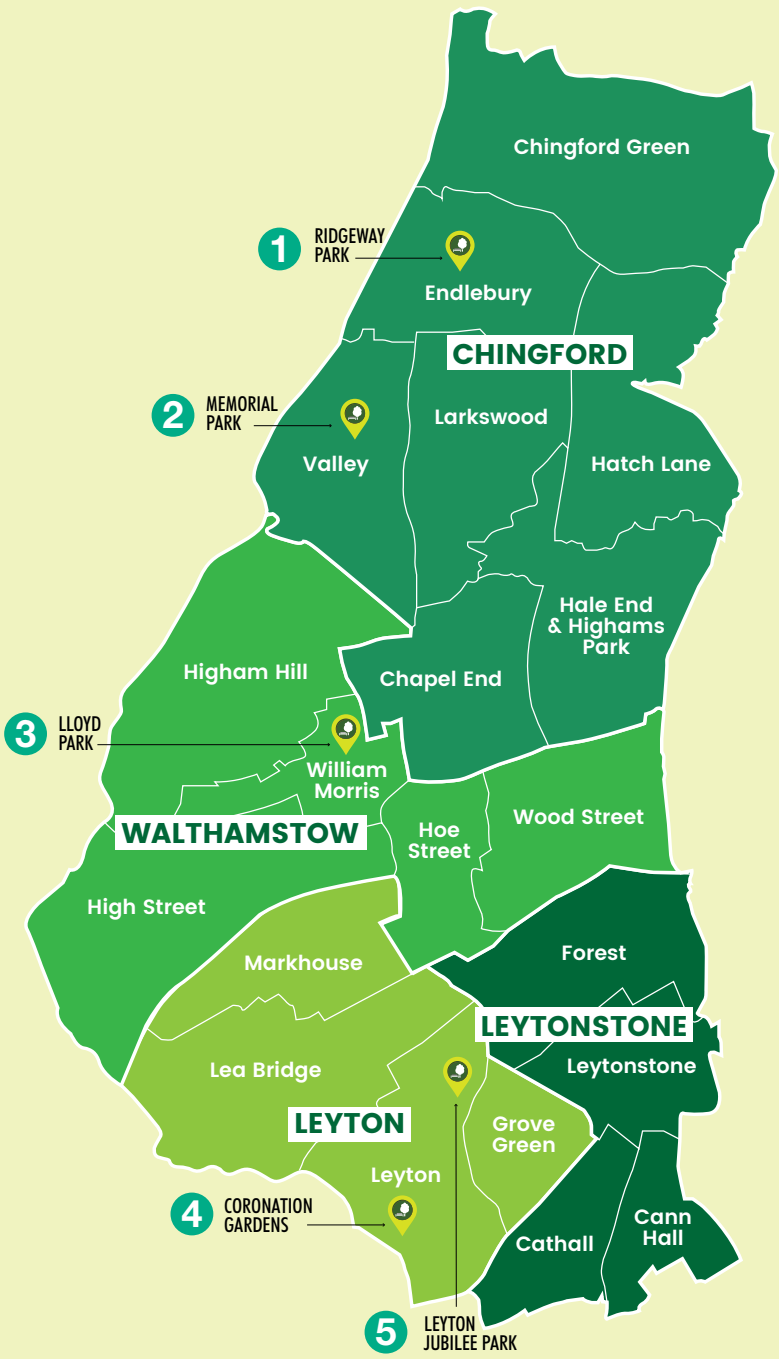
If you can't wait to get out and just want to enjoy a great park, we have selected five of our favourites

You can learn more about volunteering and training opportunities throughout the year at our parks by visiting https://bit.ly/WFParksVolunteer, or visit www.walthamforest.gov.uk/parks to find out about all the parks in Waltham Forest. If you can't wait to get out and just want to enjoy a great park, we have selected five of our favourites – we'd love to know what yours are!



Enjoy the tranquillity at Leyton Jubilee Park

Ridgeway Park has a playground to keep the little ones happy



1 Ridgeway Park

Tennis courts, table tennis areas, and a miniature railway make this park a particular family favourite. Walt Disney visited in 1954 and was even allowed to drive the miniature train.

2 Memorial Park

A large open space for picnics and family games alongside a bowling green and ornamental pond – an oasis of calm and tranquility.

3 Lloyd Park

The grounds of the childhood home of William Morris is now a welcoming park for all to enjoy with a pond, independent café stocking local goods, and a skate park.

4 Coronation Gardens

Just by the Leyton Orient stadium this elegant park contains a fountain and pond as well as maze and a statue of Laurie Cunningham, Leyton Orient legend and one of the first Black players to represent England in international football.

5 Leyton Jubilee Park

This large park has a spectacular pirate ship for ages 3+, an outdoor gym, natural play equipment, football pitches and a basketball court as well as the KukooLaLa Café to get some refreshments after you exercise.

By-election results

Who ya gonna tell? Tell Walt!

Don't forget that you can quickly and easily report fly tipping, fly posting, and dog fouling direct to clean-up crews using our radical reporting robot Tell Walt who is available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, to handle all your reports.

To use Walt, simply look for the @WFTellWalt Twitter account or send us a direct message from the council's Facebook profile page. Walt will then pass on reports direct to crews to be cleared as soon as possible – you can even request a notification to let you know when it's done.

Fly tipping and enviro-crime costs taxpayers thousands of pounds each year to clear up. By letting us know where fly tips are, we can get a better idea of hotspots so we can target problem areas and catch culprits in the act.

If there's a different problem in your neighbourhood, for example light pollution or vandalism, you can send us a report from our website at www.walthamforest.gov.uk/report

Get help at your local library

Waltham Forest Council is putting in place new ways of getting in touch, to make sure residents can be supported more quickly, at centres more convenient for them, and at a wider range of times.

The Council website, www.walthamforest.gov.uk, continues to be the main hub for enquiries. Many common enquiries are answered on its pages, and it also features a Live Chat function staffed by members of the Council's Customer Service team.

Resident Support officers have moved into eight library centres in the heart of communities across the borough. Here, residents can speak to trained Council staff to resolve any issues, without facing the long waits that were often necessary at centralised Council receptions.

> Residents can speak to trained Council staff to resolve any issues, without facing the long waits

In alignment with the Council's focus on developing 15-minute neighbourhoods, every resident in Waltham Forest lives within 1.5 miles of a library – and many live much closer. These libraries also have longer opening hours than our previous reception areas.

Simple steps you can take for the environment

There are plenty of simple ways you can reduce your carbon footprint at home

We need to change - not the climate

As part of London Climate Action Week, 26 June to 4 July 2021, we wanted our residents to think about how they can play a part, big or small, in making a difference to reduce their carbon footprint and help protect our environment for future generations.

In our climate emergency survey in 2019, a whopping 90 per cent of you told us that you are concerned about the climate emergency and 70 per cent think that climate change is affecting their local area.

You also told us you want

> We will do even more as we act on the recommendations of the Climate Emergency Commission the Council to lead by example and inspire change. That's why we have installed more than 1,000 solar panels on council buildings, with plans to install even more, and at the same time we are planting more trees than ever before with the Great Waltham Forest Tree Giveaway to add to the 100,000 trees already in the borough.

We're also helping people make the switch to active travel by building more cycle lanes and Low Traffic Neighbourhoods, and committing to 200 more electric vehicle charging points over the next nine months. We will do even more as we act on the recommendations of the Climate Emergency Commission and release a delivery action plan later this year.

There are plenty of simple ways you can reduce your carbon footprint at home, here's a helpful list below. While you might not be able to do all of them, maybe you could pick one or two and see how you go. Every little bit helps!

- Reuse items and avoid single use plastic bags, straws and bottles. Or even try refills at your local shops such as Stone Mini Mart in Leyton Stone, Veg Hut E17 in Walthamstow or FillinGood in Highams Park.
- Switch to a vegetarian or vegan diet… If that's too big a step, why not try one day a week?
- When using a kettle, only boil what you need.
- Turn down the thermostat in your home by 1 degree. This could save 360kg CO2 and up to £90.
- Replace a traditional light bulb with a LED bulb and always flick the switch off when leaving a room, no matter how long for.
- Insulate your home – up to a quarter of heat is lost through the roof in an uninsulated home. If you are eligible, the Green Homes Grant programme might be a way you can do that, check it out on page 19.
- Turn the tap off when brushing your teeth or washing dishes – a running tap wastes more that 6 litres or roughly 10 pints of water every minute.
- Have showers not baths. Replacing a bath once a week with a five-minute shower saves water and energy.

New exhibitions to enjoy at William Morris Gallery

Much-loved council-owned gallery reopens to public with two new exhibitions

Within The Reach of All: The Century Guild is the first exhibition in 20 years to explore the lasting legacy of the Century Guild, an influential association late 19th century artists and designers.

The exhibition explores the group's key figures—Arthur Heygate Mackmurdo, Selwyn Image and Herbert Horne—along with its influence on Art Nouveau, 20th-century design and modern publishing.

Distant Fellowship: Morris and South Asia, by former artists-in-residence Priya Sundram and Nia Thandapani, explores and develops connections between William Morris and South Asia.

The artists collaborated with Tharangini—Bangalore's oldest hand block printing studio—to create a stunning furnishing fabric, which has been used to create a domestic-style space in the Gallery. Distant Fellowship also features contributions by eight contemporary artists with links to India, Bangladesh, Pakistan and Sri Lanka.

Visitors can also explore the Gallery's award-winning permanent displays, which tell the story of Morris's life and legacy through the world's most comprehensive collection of his work.

As capacity is reduced due to Covid-19 restrictions, the Gallery recommends booking in advance at waltham-forest-culture.arttickets.org.uk The gallery is open Tuesday-Sunday, 10am-5pm. Admission is free.

Landmark former EMD cinema is staging a comeback

As excitement mounts around the restoration of this iconic Walthamstow venue, we interview Head of Creative Engagement at Soho Theatre Jess Draper about what's happening.

Jessica Draper the Head of Creative Engagement

Soho Theatre's re-opening of the former Granada/ EMD in Walthamstow takes a stride forward with the appointment of Jessica Draper in the newly created role of Head of Creative Engagement. We caught up with Jess to find out more about what she's looking forward to as the big launch gets nearer…

Tell us about your role and what a Head of Creative Engagement does

It's collaborating, respecting and celebrating the people that live, work and play here. I'm part of a brilliant team including Jules and Dimple who've been working with local schools and groups in the borough for years. From theatre and comedy workshops to epic year-long outdoor projects, to pop-up comedy stages, like the one we're hosting at Fellowship Square this summer, our projects are always rooted in their communities, in a creative and friendly environment. We run a number of programmes, right now a Stand-Up Comedy Lab with borough residents of all ages and backgrounds and talent is booming.

Currently we're recruiting a Community Engagement Officer - we're looking for someone who knows the borough, is passionate about live work and wants to be part of creating a local hub with big ideas.

In 3 words name what you think WF Culture looks like to you?

Bizzle, Morris, Wahid!

What do you love about WF's cultural scene?

Kids drumming and upcycling with Mbilla Art, and samosas and chai at the Apne Film Club. Performances on buses and on film with Wild Forest Theatre, the attitude-free disco at the Trades Hall with Julia on the decks, and Project Zero talent pitches... Right across the borough there are committed, creative people who are coming together and creating something bigger than the individual.

Waltham Forest was the first-ever London Borough of Culture in 2019. How will the new venue continue that legacy?

The Borough of Culture year shone a spotlight on this corner of London, on the talent and artistry and the originality of the work. It brought 500,000 people into Waltham Forest and engaged schools across the borough. There's still so much to explore and many more people to collaborate with and we're excited to be a part of the next chapter.

> The talent of young people in this borough is off the scale

How will the project benefit the community - can community groups and young people get involved in projects?

The pandemic has highlighted the importance of community. This time apart has shown our need to come together, and how vital cultural hubs can be. The Waltham Forest community and young people particularly have been and will continue to be the lifeblood of this venue. Local groups, like the McGuffin Film Society, Waltham Forest Cinema Trust and Save Walthamstow Cinema, led the passionate campaign that helped to save the building.

As part of the redevelopment there will be studio spaces for community groups and local creators to use for developing their work. The talent of young people in this borough is off the scale - Walthamstow School for Girls performed at Soho Theatre in June for NT Connections, they were brilliant!

A theatre is an exciting ecosystem, reopening the venue presents an amazing opportunity to throw wide training and skills opportunities. We've just launching a pioneering Trainee Comedy Producer scheme providing a six-month, work-based learning programme - the first of its kind to teach the entry-level knowledge and skills in producing and promoting.

> When this Grade II listed building closed its doors, local residents spent years campaigning for it to be saved

Have you been involved with WF before and why should WF have its own theatre?

I had an amazing time working in this wonderful borough alongside residents and groups for the Borough of Culture in 2019. Why shouldn't Waltham Forest have its own theatre?! When this Grade II listed building closed its doors, local residents spent years campaigning for it to be saved. It wasn't just a building - it was a heartbeat.

The renovated former Granada / EMD venue is due to reopen in summer 2022.

Coronavirus update

The latest important information about the Covid-19 pandemic and how we are responding

The last 16 months have been incredibly difficult for us all. That is why once again we want to thank everyone who has had to make sacrifices, big and small, during this time.
Even though we're not moving out of the last stage of the roadmap just yet, we can still enjoy the best the borough has to offer over summer with fewer COVID-19 restrictions. We all need to remember the simple steps we can take to help protect those who are vulnerable and help us prevent moving back into lockdown.

What can we all do to help?

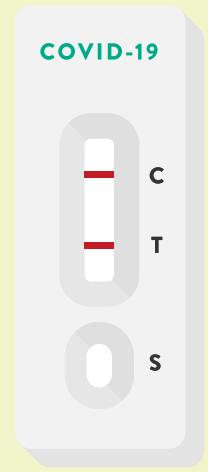
- Always remember: hands, face, space
- Let fresh air in when you can
- Take regular Covid-19 tests and self-isolate if you need to
- Take the Covid-19 vaccine when it's your turn

We must all remember that Covid-19 is still around us and remains a part of our lives. Let's pull together and get our community through this.

150,000 residents vaccinated and counting!

The vaccination programme in Waltham Forest has been amazing. Thousands of residents have now been fully vaccinated or received their first dose. We need as many Waltham Forest residents to take the vaccine when it's their turn, to not only protect yourselves but also those who are unable to take the vaccine or more at risk from Covid-19. You can book directly at Walthamstow Library by visiting http://bit.ly/WFLibraryVaccine

Testing



While vaccination provides great protection and reduces the chance of someone becoming severely ill from Covid-19, it doesn't remove the risk of you still catching and spreading the virus.

So, take a test regularly even if you've been vaccinated, even if you feel fine because many people have Covid-19 without any symptoms. For more reasons why you should test, visit www.walthamforest.gov.uk/staysafe

Testing for Covid-19 is widely available within the borough, either at symptom-free test sites, pharmacies, some leisure centres and libraries, as well as community groups and faith-based organisations.

Test at home twice a week and make sure to report you result to the NHS online each time. Many are making testing as part of their lives – setting calendar reminders or fitting it around their normal routines.

If you test positive, it's important to self-isolate immediately – this is the best way to stop the virus in its tracks and protecting others, especially vulnerable family members or loved ones. If you need help while self-isolating, make sure to visit www.walthamforest.gov.uk/self-isolation-support to get help. Regular testing is one of the best ways to continue to do all the things we love doing and getting back to a more normal life.

We need to continue to work together to protect each other. Let's all play our part to keep Waltham Forest safe.

Metropolitan Police support community initiative to help youngsters show off their talents

The Metropolitan Police has teamed up with Hearts of Talent, a local community initiative founded by local mum and businesswoman Jasmine Dale, to help young people unlock their full potential through the performing arts.

The community project aims to build bridges and trust in Waltham Forest but also to help educate young people on the dangers of knife crime and provide different options for those who may have been involved in crime before. The project will bring young people together to showcase their talents culminating in a live final at Wembley Stadium.

The project was launched on Monday 3 May with a live video stream to showcase the wide variety of talents that the competition is open to.

It shared local community voices and top tips for entering from the HoT ambassadors. These ambassadors have been brought on to inspire and mentor participants; these include Jessica Ellis, Lemzi, Lyndrik Xela, Karla Crome and Scarlette Douglas, to mention just a few.

HoT offers support during and post involvement in the competition and also includes non-performance roles that surround the entertainment industry, such as production or marketing. The mission is to create opportunities for personal development for young people across the board.

Those aged between eight and 30 can submit a recording of themselves performing their talent, whether that be singing, dancing, rap, spoken word or film making.

There will be live auditions throughout the summer at venues across London, with the live finals taking place in Wembley Stadium in November.

The live auditions for Waltham Forest will take place on Tuesday 17 August.

> Jasmine Dale, Managing Director of Hearts of Talent, said: "We the Hearts of Talent seek to find a partial solution to gang violence, that seems to ambush our millennial generation."

As part of the launch Chief Superintendent Richard Tucker, the Borough Commander for Newham and Waltham Forest, shared what the Met are doing to work with communities and how passionate he is that initiatives like this one are supported.

He said: "We want to divert people away from crime and it is initiatives like this one that can help us to do that. I see us as the guardians of London, I want to move away from the confrontation and for people to see us as a positive force for good in the community.

"We want to help young people and I hope that by supporting this project, and many others, we will begin to see the change in how people engage with us. I feel very passionate and protective of young people in the borough of Waltham Forest and this project will give them a channel to show their incredible talents and give them a voice.

"My colleagues will be available at the events throughout the summer so please do approach us, ask us questions and see what we are doing in the community."

Jasmine Dale, Managing Director of Hearts of Talent, said: "We the Hearts of Talent seek to find a partial solution to gang violence, that seems to ambush our millennial generation.

"We aim to design an infrastructure live and virtual, enabling the younger person to become confident, articulate and educated in the industry of the arts, known as edutainment, pathway to a career.

"Previously known as the Brent Factor, we interacted with 250 youths and formed an accountability partnership with the younger person and their parents."

Islington & Shoreditch Housing Association builds new homes on Hoe Street

Islington & Shoreditch Housing Association (ISHA) continues to provide affordable homes in its communities with two sites on Hoe Street.

The first, at 317 Hoe Street, has created 16 properties to rent for those in need of affordable housing in Waltham Forest. The Council supported the delivery of this 100 per cent affordable housing development by providing some funding for the affordable rent homes from right to buy receipts.

The development offers residents amazing views towards the City of London from the generous outside space in the apartments. The development also includes ample storage space provided with carpets and curtains. The development completed in the spring and residents are already moving in.

The second phase of the development, at 400 Hoe Street, will provide 34 shared ownership properties and four for rent, as well as commercial space on the ground floor. Next to Barclay Primary School, ISHA worked with the school and local artists to create a mural for the school's playground. The site will complete in autumn 2021.

Is your home energy efficient?

Are you interested in saving money on your fuel bills, having a warmer home, and doing good things for the environment?

Through the Green Homes Grants scheme, households earning under £40,000 and living in a house with an Energy Performance Certificate (ECP) rated E, F or G, could receive financial help to retrofit their homes with energy efficient measures, such as double/triple-glazed windows or insulated walls.

If you're unsure of your ECP rating, quickly drop Waltham Forest Service Store an email and they will let you know.

The grant provides funding up to £10,000 for owner-occupiers to make improvements to their homes and you won't have to spend a penny yourself, it's all from the Green Homes Grant. Private landlords can get up to £5,000 but will have to contribute one third of the total cost.

Local Walthamstow resident, Susan, is a homeowner who snapped up the funding recently and said: "The Scheme has allowed me to make improvements to my home, such as underfloor insulation, whereby I have noticed improvements in the property, and it feels instantly warmer.

> The Grant has been a great help as this is something I couldn't have done on my own

"The Grant has been a great help as this is something I couldn't have done on my own.

"Everyone involved in getting this done has been a great help, from the application to the installers. My home is now warmer and more energy efficient and I look forward to fully testing it during the winter period. I am now looking forward to continuing the improvement on my home by getting double-glazed windows." Applications for funding close 30 September 2021.

Building Skills Academy will help residents back into work

Willmott Dixon Interiors, an interior fit-out and refurbishment specialists, and PAS Direct, a specialist training provider for the construction industry, launched the Building Lives Academy to help jobseekers in the area find their way back into work.

Participants hail from a variety of careers in construction, hospitality, accounting and finances, and so far the Building Lives Academy has achieved:

- Two sessions to support sixteen long-term NEET (young people aged 16 to 24 years Not in Education, Employment, or Training), or unemployed individuals into employment, education or training
- Seven individuals out of 16 have confirmed employment outcomes
- Out of the seven confirmed employments, two participants were unemployed for more than three years prior to joining the Academy

Participants will receive recognised qualifications on completing the academy course.

Waltham Forest resident Andrea Armstrong said: "The course has taught me so much, such as manual handling and health and safety, along with other useful things which will apply to my daily life and also my safety working on sites and other places. This course was very informative and the handouts make the course more appealing. I would definitely recommend this course to others."

Mike Devaney, Construction Manager at Willmott Dixon Interiors, said: "Willmott Dixon Interiors is proud to be part of the London Borough of Waltham Forest's regeneration strategy which will realise their vision to transform the Former Granada / EMD into a vibrant and creative venue with its own cultural identity in the heart of Walthamstow.

"The project also allows us to build a legacy for the local community and to improve young people's job prospects with initiatives that provide life-long skills.

"That's why we have created a Building Lives Academy in Walthamstow to up-skill local people and give them a platform for long-term careers success."

The investment into the former Granada/EMD revival is part of the London Borough of Culture 2019 legacy. The venue will help boost the night-time economy in Waltham Forest and create jobs for local people.

Connecting People with Jobs is one of the four immediate priorities set out within our Public Service Strategy

Councillor Simon Miller, Member for Economic Growth and Housing Development said: "I am delighted to see that the Building Lives Academy is supporting the creation of local jobs.

"Connecting people with jobs is one of the four immediate priorities set out within our Public Service Strategy and we are determined more than ever to work with our partners to ensure we are providing training, upskilling opportunities and securing local jobs for local people."

Boost for borough businesses

Waltham Forest Council has been administering Additional Restrictions Fund grants to support businesses in the borough that have suffered most as a result of Covid-19.

These grants were split into a £4million Hardship Fund intended to support businesses and sole traders, and a £2.5million Growth Fund for businesses who were able demonstrate the ability to bounce back and grow rapidly, providing additional value through job creation, innovation, and alignment with council priorities.

Both schemes have been hugely successful. More than 500 Hardship Fund and over 200 Growth Fund applications were received. Applicants included market traders, designers, beauty salons, shared workspace providers, charities, pubs, cafes, restaurants, print shops and media businesses. 82 per cent of applications came from small businesses with under five employees.

In order to support as many businesses as possible, the Council decided to pay Hardship Fund applicants 75 per cent of the amount requested. This means that more than 100 additional businesses will now receive funds who may otherwise have lost out. One recipient of support is Dance Days (www.dancedays.co.uk), a Waltham Forest business providing educational dance-based workshops to local schools.

Matthew Matson, Director, said: "This grant will make a big difference to our work. The school closures during lockdown meant we lost a huge amount of our income, and we were really struggling. Since the lockdown has started to ease things are picking up, but this grant means we will be able to offer a whole set of new programmes to Waltham Forest schools at a cheaper price, enabling more local children than ever to take part."

LONDON BOROUGH OF WALTHAM FOREST
INTRODUCTION OF ENFORCEMENT OF PARKING PLACES AND WAITING AND LOADING RESTRICTIONS IN CERTAIN HOUSING ESTATE ROADS, AREAS, OR LAND BY THE ISSUE OF PENALTY CHARGE NOTICES (batch 2-2021)
(NOTE: This Notice is about the introduction of enforcement of off-street areas, associated parking places, designated parking places for disabled person's and waiting and loading restrictions within the Council's housing estate roads, areas or land listed in the Schedules to this Notice.)
The Waltham Forest (Charged-For Parking Places) (Amendment No. *) Order 2021
The Waltham Forest (Free Parking Places, Loading Places and Waiting, Loading and Stopping Restrictions) (Amendment No. *) Order 2021
The Waltham Forest (Off-Street Parking Places) (Amendment No. *) Order 2021
The Waltham Forest (Off-Street Parking Places) (Amendment No. *) Order 2021

1. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Council of the London Borough of Waltham Forest (hereinafter termed "the Council") propose to make the above-mentioned Orders under sections 6, 35, 45, 46, 49 and 124 of and Part IV of Schedule 9 to the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 (RTRA), as amended.
2. The general effect of the Orders will be to provide in the Council's housing estates:

a) On-street waiting restrictions, or, waiting and loading restrictions operating "at any time" on the roads specified in schedule 1 to this notice (in some cases this would involve extending lengths of existing double yellow lines or converting single yellow lines to "at any time" waiting restrictions);
b) Off-street restricted parking areas operating "at any time" specified in schedule 2 to this notice (areas where waiting or loading will be restricted to vehicles within the whole or specific areas within the off-street area); and
c) designated disabled person's parking places for approved residents within the Council housing estate specified in Schedule 2 to this notice (Parking in a disabled person's parking place within a housing estate mentioned without a disabled person's blue badge would result in a contravention and the issue of a Penalty Charge Notice);all to be enforced under the provisions of the Traffic Management Act 2004.

This will enable the Council's Civil Enforcement Officers to enforce and, in respect of contraventions issue Penalty Charge Notices. In certain cases, vehicles that contravene the restrictions may be towed-away just as they might be on the public highway and in the Council's other car parks that are not in housing estates. Parking places or individual parking bays may be provided within the on-street and off-street areas within the restricted roads or areas mentioned in the Schedules to this Notice. Parking outside or incorrectly within the boundary of a parking bay or parking place would result in a contravention and the issue of a Penalty Charge Notice.
Outside of each parking place or individual parking bays in any roads or areas mentioned in the Schedules to this Notice will be marked by either double yellow lines, or instead of double yellow lines, sign plates at the entrance of these roads or areas stipulating that a 'Restricted Zone - no waiting' is in force. In some cases, the signs may be supplemented with 'except in marked bays' where parking is granted. With a restricted zone no double yellow lines will be on the ground.
Note: All parking bays or places mentioned in the Schedules below will be marked-out on the highway by means of white lines or other surface area demarcation.
NB. Additional information with regard to parking or no waiting compliance will be displayed on the Council's terms and conditions information board at the entrance and within the estate areas.

3. The above measures are necessary to prevent parking and waiting where it could cause an obstruction, particularly to emergency services and refuse collection vehicles and to reserve parking for specific users.

4. A copy of the Orders, the Council's statement of reasons for proposing to make the Orders and plans showing the locations and effect of the Orders can be inspected until the end of a period of 6 weeks from the date on which the Orders are made or, as the case may be, the Council decides not to make the Orders, on request by either emailing traffic.scheme@walthamforest.gov.uk, or visiting the Highways and Traffic Management office, Low Hall. Argall Avenue E10 7AS during normal office hours on Mondays to Fridays inclusive; or alternatively documents can be viewed online at: https://www.walthamforest.gov.uk/content/road-traffic-schemes-and-consultations.
