Residents' improvement ideas come to life across Waltham Forest

In Summer 2023, thousands of you shared your ideas on how we could improve neighbourhoods in the borough through our Let's Talk Waltham Forest project. The suggestions included new planters and pocket parks, additional playground equipment, and new bins and benches.

Cllr Grace Williams, Leader of the Council, said: "With over 2,000 people sharing their ideas for local improvements, we can make real changes that will have a real impact on residents' lives. This demonstrates one thing: that residents care deeply about their local areas and want to help improve them. I know I speak on behalf of all councillors when I say thank you for taking part. You are helping to make actual change right here in Waltham Forest.'

Residents also shared concerns about anti-social behaviour, littering, and community safety. Council teams have already started work to resolve these problems.

Since the engagement closed in Autumn 2023, councillors have been working with council officers to assess the ideas. We are delighted to announce more than 36 improvements across 12 wards so far - with many more to come this year.

Council Leader, Cllr Grace Williams

Using every penny of your Council Tax well

Like you, we have had to make savings to our budget. We've worked hard to protect the services that residents rely on most.

After more than a decade of austerity, during which realterm government funding has decreased by over a third, we cannot continue to meet your needs without increasing Council Tax.

No one likes to see their bills rise – especially during the cost-of-living crisis. I know this is not welcome news. I want you to be confident that we are using your Council Tax to fund vital services. On the opposite page, we have published details of just some of the services we provide.

Demand for these important services continues to increase. We are now responsible for the adult social care of 1,000 more people than we were in 2019, and the number of people approaching us at risk of becoming homeless was 50 per cent higher in November 2023 than the year before. We are the safety net that supports the most vulnerable and prevents the least well off in our society falling through the cracks, but we need the funding to be able to continue this work.

At the same time as protecting services, Waltham Forest Council is bringing in the investment that local people need to be able to access new jobs, training opportunities, and housing. In this issue of WFN, you can find details of how we're investing nearly £750m over the next ten years to build 3,017 new homes, of which over half will be affordable. We are also creating 1,116 new jobs alongside 638 apprenticeships and work placements. Our plan for inclusive, sustainable growth also protects the unique feel of our town centres and preserves much-loved parks and green spaces for the community to enjoy for years to come. Visit pages 14 and 15 for more information.

We're lobbying the Government hard so that we received the fair deal residents deserve. Thank you to everyone who signed our petition to save the Household Support Fund (HSF) and helped persuade the government to keep this vital lifeline going. While I welcome the Chancellor's announcement that the HSF will continue, it is only for six months rather than the two years charities and others have called for. Our fight for a long-term commitment to give us the funding we need continues.

Our mission is Waltham Forest – residents come first in everything we do, always.

Big ideas from our Fixatorium friends

Rethink, recycle... repeat!

For three days in February half term, the Leytonstone Tube station pop-up space at 1 Church Lane was transformed into a miniature Waltham Forest wonderland, made entirely of recycled and re-purposed materials - collected from the homes of our residents and local businesses.

Local artist Sean Rodrigo, of the Fixatorium, rose to the challenge of creating some of the borough's most famous buildings entirely from re-used cardboard – including a movable number 55 bus and a remote-controlled recycling truck.

Pizza boxes and old parcel packaging, shredded cardboard and paper were all transformed into replicas of local landmarks including the William Morris Gallery, Whipps Cross Hospital, and the Sir Alfred Hitchcock Hotel.

"So many families came to visit - you could see how engaged the children were"

The installation was open to the public to drop in and visit over the school break. Children (and many adults!) took the chance to drive a remote-controlled recycling truck around the town, make a miniature building of their own to add to the display, and learn about which items should go in which bin to make sure we're all recycling as well as possible.

Sean Rodrigo said: "I loved bringing this project to life as part of the Recycle Right campaign. Over the days it was open so many families came to visit, and you could see how engaged the children were with the work. It really helped to start conversations about where our old cardboard materials go, and what can and can't be recycled or re-purposed. As a Waltham Forest resident myself, it has certainly made me think more about what we use and what we throw away."

Many residents across the borough have been recycling right, but we want recycling rates to rise even further. Make sure you're up to date with which items can go in your recycling bin and which items you should rethink, like nappies, crisp packets, and greasy pizza boxes.

OUR MISSION WALTHAM FOREST

Our new commitment to residents is all about making access to council services better and improving your quality of life, with a focus on six priorities.

Cllr Grace Williams, Leader of the Council, said, "We know that when you ask us for help, you aren't always able to access the right support or information you need straight away – and that needs to change.

"Although we, like many other councils across the country, are struggling financially, we want you to know that we are prioritising front line services so that you get the right support at the right time. When you ask for help, we're going to make sure you can get it where and when you need it.

"Mission Waltham Forest is our bold new plan to tackle the housing crisis, reduce fear of crime and provide the outstanding experience you deserve. We want you to hold us accountable to our missions and get involved wherever you can."

MISSION ONE

Ensure every family and every child are given every opportunity

Improving our offer to families, making sure they have equal access to support and services no matter where they live in the borough.

MISSION TWO

Build an economy that works for everyone

Investing £749 million in local people and places and reducing inequalities, ensuring everyone can access new opportunities.

MISSION THREE

Make Waltham Forest a great place to live and age well

With a 70 per cent rise in families using council funded food banks, we will make sure residents can access support services when and where they need it.

MISSION FOUR

Tackle the housing crisis head on

With 153 social affordable rent homes completed and a further 94 under construction, we are aiming to help people find good quality homes in the borough.

MISSION FIVE

Lead the way for a net-zero borough

We have invested £150k to reduce residents' fuel bills and continue to drive our climate action forward, making a greener borough for our future.

MISSION

Safe, green neighbourhoods where everyone can thrive

Working with police to increase patrols, responding to anti-social behaviour reports efficiently, everyone has the right to feel safe.

Local resident Suzie leads the way towards a net-zero borough

Suzie Madine is the owner of Make Do and Wonder, a gift shop which has been running in the Wood Street area for ten years.

It has a unique role in the local community, specialising in slow fashion and re-fashioned garments.

Suzie explains: "We make most of what we sell and usually take 'unusable' items of clothing that would otherwise be sent to landfill to be repurposed into new items for the community. The idea is to highlight that a garment that may seem like waste or something to be thrown out, may actually have the potential to be repurposed into something really fantastic with a little love and care.

"We have a partnership with the Salvation Army and take lots of clothes – often things like men's dress shirts for example – which are in various states of disrepair. We often completely rework these items, often combining and creating a completely new look.

"We want to be able to make a difference locally here. Everyone has a role to play in fighting the climate crisis and we want to do our bit to cut down on our waste as a community and offer a sustainable alternative to fast fashion."

Tee and daughter Sienna love the Treasure Our Youth sessions

In early 2023 Waltham
Forest launched
Space4All, part of its new Family Hubs network.
Space4All provides young people with safe, fun and free activities, usually

18 sessions take place in familiar spaces across the borough, from churches to community halls and in Family Hubs themselves. Thousands of young people have enjoyed these sessions in their first year.

Treasure Our Youth is a session for 9- to 12-year-olds taking place at three Family Hubs across the borough. The sessions are free, inclusive of young people with and without special educational needs and disabilities. One parent, Tee, brings her daughter Sienna every week.

"She really enjoys being among other children that have special needs as well. When she leaves the session, she's got a really calm aura and she's really inspired. There are children of all different needs, some visible, some not, and they learn to be among each other and help each other out. And they get fed! So I get to have a couple of hours by myself.

"Her favourite activity is arts and crafts – she often comes home with something she's made, whether it's a fan, a boat, a simple drawing. Or a friend's number, which is really cool!"

Guest blog: Mariam Draaijer, CEO of JoyRiders

Mariam and her team of JoyRiders are a group dedicated to helping women gain confidence in cycling

"I started cycling in Waltham Forest in 2014, just at the start of what was then called the 'mini-Holland' scheme.

My children were small at the time, and went to school in Walthamstow Village. We moved a bit further away, and I got them bikes so we could start cycling in. Over the years we were doing that we could see the improvements happening. At first there were just some planters, and then things like the one-way roads and cycle lanes. As the children got older it enabled my daughter to start cycling to school on her own.

I joined JoyRiders in 2016. It was started as a way for a few friends to get out on cycle rides together – and now we run group rides every week and have a WhatsApp group of over 250 people. Our group has benefited from a Community Walking and Cycling Fund grant, which we used to run a 'family summer of cycling' – organised rides for families across the borough. We lent bikes to people who didn't have them, and had people from ages 4 to 60 join us.

I'm passionate about helping people into cycling because it gives them more freedom and independence. Looking back over the 10 years of Enjoy Waltham Forest, it's definitely a more common sight now to see people on bikes – and to see different kinds of people, using cycling for their everyday mode of transport.

Hopefully this is true for more and more people as Enjoy Waltham Forest continues through 2024 and beyond!"

Gettin' hitched in the heart of the borough

Newlyweds Beth and Rory tie the knot in Fellowship Square

Beth and Rory from Walthamstow got married in April last year. They elected to hold their civil ceremony in our Fellowship Heart space, on the grand ground floor of Waltham Forest Town Hall.

As their guests arrived, they gathered by the fountains before being greeted by Rory on the steps of Fellowship Square.

The wedding party was welcomed by an art deco interior design, featuring gold accents, and cosy wall sconces, as well as a flower arch at the top of the alter.

Once everybody was seated, Beth made her way to the top of the alter to meet Rory, where they were married by registrar Sonia Howard.

So why did they choose Fellowship Square to get married?

"Put simply, we've loved living in Walthamstow Village for the past three years, so to tie the knot so close to home was really special for us," they told us. "We love Fellowship Square and the town hall building."

"We've loved living in Walthamstow Village for the past three years, so to tie the knot so close to home was really special"

Sonia Howard is a Waltham Forest Ceremonies Registrar. She has worked as a registrar for 12 years, conducting marriages, civil partnerships, renewal of marriage vows, baby naming ceremonies and more.

Sonia says: "When customers contact us, we start by inviting them in to come and view Fellowship Square and the various marriage suites that we have available. We have a range of suites to suit most customers' needs, from the small and intimate to our larger suites which can accommodate up to 145 people.

"We will also advise the couple on how they can personalise their ceremony with readings, poetry, personal vows, and the exchange of rings. "What I enjoy most about being a registrar is the diversity of people that I get to meet from all around the world. Every day is different. My knowledge of geography has greatly improved. I could have it as my specialist subject on Mastermind!"

Fellowship Square is an accessible and inclusive venue that welcomes people and couples from all backgrounds and faiths. Each ceremony can be personalised and tailored to suit the individual needs of the couple.

Capital Investment

How we're investing to let the Forest grow

Thousands more jobs, opportunities, and homes for local people

People who live, work, and study in Waltham Forest will benefit from investment that will bring new jobs, apprenticeships, and leisure opportunities alongside thousands of affordable homes and improved neighbourhoods as part of the council's mission to tackle the issues and challenges the borough and its residents face.

We all want to see a fairer, more equal borough, where everyone can make the most of their life chances. We are committed to prioritising the things that are most important to residents like building safe, resilient communities, improving our schools, and protecting local heritage.

The Capital Investment Strategy sets out details of how the council will invest £749.2m over the next ten years in the places and - most importantly the people that make Waltham Forest such a great place to live, work, and study.

These plans will create substantial benefits for local people. To help tackle the housing crisis we will build 3,017 new homes, of which over half will be affordable. and at the same time create 1,116 new jobs alongside 638 apprenticeships and work placements.

These plans will create substantial benefits for local people

These skills will help set local young people up for success in their future careers - we want the builders of tomorrow to lay their first foundations in Waltham Forest.

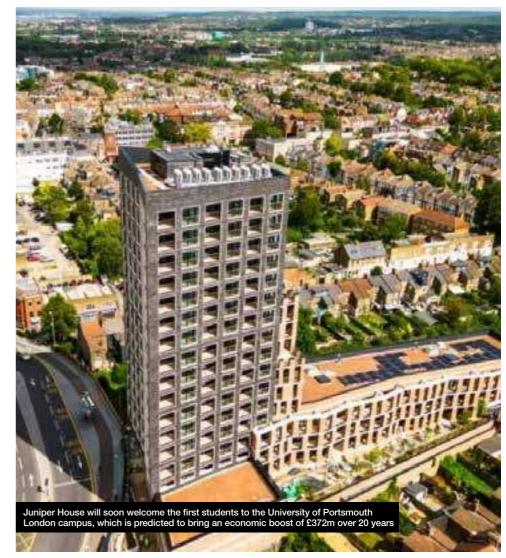

Our investment has seen a number of significant successes in the last year. These include the completion of Juniper House, where the University of Portsmouth London campus will welcome its first students later this year; the Leyton Green Partnership, where 47 new homes have been built alongside a respite centre for young disabled people; and Coronation Square in Leyton, a brandnew neighbourhood where residents have already started to move into their new homes.

The council has an important duty to attract inward investment and build a strong, inclusive local economy that works for everyone. As a prudent, sensible council, we are always looking to ensure our investment represents the best possible value for taxpayers. Access the full Capital Investment Strategy at bit.ly/WFCapInvest

The right developments in the right place

How good growth delivers benefits we all enjoy

In February, the council voted to adopt the Local Plan (Part 1). It outlines our vision for the inclusive, sustainable growth that is needed to help the borough thrive up until 2035.

Alongside new affordable homes, the Local Plan contains information about the jobs and opportunities that will be created through developments as well as details of how the unique feel of town centres and the borough's local heritage will be protected.

Preserving the natural environment is another key aim of the Local Plan. Waltham Forest has many much-loved parks and green spaces – the Local Plan preserves these precious areas so that they can be enjoyed by the community for years to come.

Councillor Ahsan Khan, Deputy Leader and Cabinet Member for Housing and Regeneration, said: "For decades, the UK simply hasn't built enough homes. Population growth and a lack of housebuilding has led to soaring house prices in the whole of London. If we don't build enough homes in the borough, our young people will never be able to purchase their own home and we will not be able to help the people on our housing register.

Residents' needs are at the centre of the Local Plan

"Through our new Local Plan, we can do something about that. We can steer the delivery of the 27,000 new homes whilst ensuring that the infrastructure needed to support them is provided, that local jobs and facilities are secured, that flood risk is reduced, that communities are safe, that air quality is improved, and that the unique and special characteristics of the borough are protected and enhanced."

Residents' needs are at the centre of the Local Plan. The process of creating it combined data and research with the views and opinions of residents, community groups, and local and national organisations such as the NHS, Transport for London, and Metropolitan Police.

The Local Plan was carefully scrutinised by the independent Planning Inspectorate to make sure it met with Government policies and regulations before it was agreed by councillors. The Council is in the process of reviewing and updating Local Plan (Part 2), which identifies the strategic sites across the borough where it is anticipated good growth could be delivered and sets expectations to ensure that it is of the highest quality.

The document will be made available for public consultation later in the year – we'll bring you more information in Waltham Forest News and our Residents' News e-newsletter soon so you can have your say.

Case study: Walthamstow Wetlands

Well planned, inclusive development has helped to fund many improvements in the borough over recent years.

Developer contributions have paid for upgrades to transport and roads, sport and leisure facilities, health services, community safety, green spaces, and much more.

The much-loved Walthamstow Wetlands to take just one example would not have been possible without these contributions. Waltham Forest was able to provide £1.8m of funding to open the wetlands, which now welcome thousands of visitors every year including school groups who enjoy learning about our unique environment and heritage.

Enjoy Japanese folk-craft at William Morris Gallery

William Morris Gallery is pleased to announce the largest ever exhibition in the UK dedicated to Mingei, the influential folk-craft movement that developed in Japan in the 1920s and 1930s.

The Art Without Heroes: Mingei exhibition will open in late March and remain open all summer until September.

Visitors will be able to enjoy over 80 works, including ceramics, woodwork, toys, textiles, photography, and film. Some are previously unseen pieces from private collections in the UK and Japan.

Mingei represents "the art of the people" and emphasises the value of traditional craft objects, unnamed makers, and a simple way of life.

The exhibition will open with a special Family Day on Saturday 23 March – which would also be William Morris's 190th birthday! It will run all summer until Sunday 22 September, and admission is free.

In your better nature

Make new friends and help keep Lloyd Park looking great

If you are walking through William Morris Garden and Lloyd Park in the coming weeks, take a moment to appreciate its beautiful botany.

Thanks to a crack team of dedicated volunteers who meet up every single week to work on them, the flowerbeds and gardens are set to become even greener and more nature friendly as spring blooms.

The Lloyd Park Volunteer Gardening Programme is run by Groundwork London in partnership with the Council. As well as providing some of the vital regular maintenance of some of the greenery in the park, it creates a hugely beneficial place for people to meet, socialise, and spend time together.

Abbas, a volunteer, explains: "Whenever I walk through the park with friends, I show them the work I have been part of. I'm extremely proud of myself and the team. This was the first time I did volunteering and thanks to this experience I have fallen in love with helping. This opportunity has changed my life."

Another volunteer, Frank, adds: "I really love the spirit of the team, and everyone is really encouraging. I never dared doing any pruning before, but now I feel comfortable to just give it a try."

Groundwork Gardener Saira Gregory leads the sessions, which take place every Thursday. She explains that nature and biodiversity are at the heart of everything that the volunteers work on: "It takes real teamwork to create a beautiful garden but we also want to make sure that that it is really wildlife-friendly too.

"The council selects a high proportion of pollinator-friendly species to support bees particularly, and they select bird-friendly species too, shrubs for habitat and berries for food. They also include plants that flower at different times of year, so there's always food for pollinators.

"No herbicides are used, just weeding by hand, and we mulch the beds, which provides habitat for invertebrates and improves the soil."

"This opportunity has changed my life"

The Lloyd Park Volunteer Gardening Programme is always welcoming new participants to the scheme.
Cllr Clyde Loakes, Deputy Leader and Cabinet Member for Climate and Air Quality, said: "Thank you so much to everyone who is part of this wonderful local programme for working so hard to keep

William Morris Garden in Lloyd Park looking not just beautiful but nature-rich and wildlifefriendly.

"We have an ambitious climate action programme and supporting local volunteers to take positive action in their local area is central to achieving our aims. We are proud to work with volunteer organisations and give them the help they need to flourish."

The People's Choice Award

The People's Choice winner in 2021 was the Forest Garden by HUT Architecture and HOS Landscapes at the junction of Drayton, Southwest, and Bulwer roads, E11 1BX.

A lonely traffic island in the heart of Leytonstone was transformed into a vibrant community garden for residents to enjoy. The garden was completed in October 2020 and has been designed to provide a habitat for bees, beetles, and butterflies. The garden has been adopted by a community of green-fingered residents, who continue to nurture the plants.

Have your say on Leyton Mills planning guidance

Working with the community to guide growth over next decade

As part of our vision to create an accessible and sustainable neighbourhood in the Leyton area, we are asking residents to share their views on the Leyton Mills Supplementary Planning Document (SPD), which will help to guide inclusive growth in the area over the next 10 years.

The council has engaged with landowners, ecologists, architects, developers, community members and businesses to establish a vision for how the Leyton Mills area could be developed. This includes four key sites:

- New Spitalfields Market
- Leyton Mills Retail Park
- Temple Mills Bus Depot
- Eton Manor in the Queen Elizabeth Olympic Park

The SPD will ensure that these sites are developed in a coordinated way to achieve our aims for better green spaces that reduce flood risk and help tackle the Climate Emergency.

Tackling anti-social behaviour with police and the community

Driving drugs out of Leyton

Last summer, the Council received a sudden spike in reports of anti-social behaviour concentrated around Leyton High Street.

This came to head in September and a public meeting was held with residents, councillors, the Met Police, local MP John Cryer and other partners in attendance. The issues raised by residents included a behaviours and environmental concerns all linked to an increase in illegal drug use in the Leyton area.

Over the following six months, the council and police have been working together to take action against perpetrators, raise awareness of reporting mechanisms for residents, and extend the support that is available for people experiencing drug addiction or homelessness. This has included the following:

COUNCIL

- Six Premises Closure Orders and one Full Closure Order.
- Regular walk and talks held with residents.
- Five new CCTV cameras bringing the Leyton network to over 50

POLICE

- 72 arrests of key offenders
- Four search warrants executed
- 104 ASB warnings and Community Protection Warnings issued

OTHER PARTNERS

- Change Grow Live regular in-person patrols and outreach to people struggling with drug misuse
- Local housing providers working with Council to improve environment

Other interventions have included offering housing support to homeless people living in an illegal encampment and removing a stash of car number plates that had been squirrelled away.

Since the targeted work to address issues in Leyton began, drug-related reports to the police and Council have reduced by 84 per cent from September 2023 to January 2024 and drug-related theft offences, which spiked last year, have also fallen off significantly.

Arrested decay: Soho Theatre Walthamstow's unique interior style

A special column by Mike Fox, Conservation Officer

You might be hearing the words "arrested decay" more and more as the building work on Soho Theatre Walthamstow comes to a head this year.

What does it mean? It's a common approach used in the conservation of historic buildings, especially theatres.

"It makes a virtue of a building's rich history"

It makes a virtue of a building's rich history, by showing and celebrating different layers of its decoration. You might have seen it in the new theatre in Alexandra Palace, Battersea Arts Centre, or Wilton's Music Hall.

With arrested decay, there's no aim to replicate a pristine original and ignore everything that came after. Messy spots aren't necessarily painted over, and it doesn't try to reverse any superficial deterioration. Instead, it freezes it in time, so the building reveals its own rich history through its layers of different exposed paints and textures.

This is the approach we've taken with the main auditorium of Soho Theatre Walthamstow, and we can't wait for you to see it. The former Granada Cinema is one of the best surviving examples of early cinema architecture in the country, influenced by Spanish-Arabic architecture - hence 'Granada'.

The original decorative scheme used golds and greens with tinted glazes to give the impression of mosaic tiles. Then in the 60s, earthy orange hues were overpainted to form the background to performances by the Beatles and Ronettes. Later on, in the 90s, lush purples and mint greens were added.

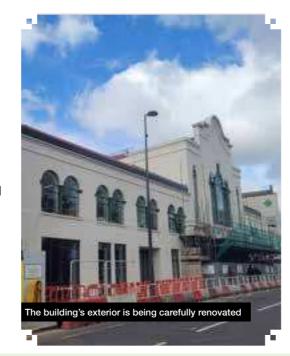

Rather than try and recreate just one of these versions of the building, with arrested decay we're proudly celebrating its entire history, in all its many glories, and with all the stories of the past intact.

Creating Conversations: Good Grief Café

Creating Conversations runs monthly group events encouraging open discussion about grief. They will help people have a better understanding of their own grief and loss, but also help others know how to support someone who is grieving.

"We tend to shy away from these conversations about death and grief and from connecting with those who are grieving. But this can lead to people feeling isolated and misunderstood. This funding will help create supportive spaces where people can have open conversations." – Debbie, Creating Conversations Director

Making the net work for all

Let's Get Digital sessions help residents save money and time online

Let's Get Digital is a programme that offers residents support and advice on using the internet safely and confidently.

Getting online can offer better access to jobs and education, ways to stay in touch with loved ones, and all kinds of information and services. It can also save you money with great deals for all kinds of products and activities.

"This is my first session and I want to start coming again and learn more"

Using the internet has become easier for some residents after they attended a free Let's Get Digital drop-in session at a local library.

Girish attended his first session at Walthamstow Library in January. In just one session, he made some fantastic steps to boost his confidence online. Girish said: "Today I have learnt how to open an email account, how to do online banking, and how to open an online shopping account. This is my first session and I want to start coming again and learn more."

The sessions are run by Digital Champion volunteers who provide friendly, one-to-one support. Girish added: "The sessions are free. Nowadays IT knowledge is so important, to do online banking, online shopping, and when you're travelling."

Kenneth also attended a drop-in session at Walthamstow Library, and said: "It's been very helpful. With the tablet I get emails, I can send emails. I can search for different things, if you want to find out anything you can just tap it in and up it will come. I find it very useful."

Could you save up to £200 a year on internet bills?

If you receive Universal Credit or other benefits, you could be eligible for a discounted broadband deal, often called a social tariff, from your internet provider that could save you up to £200 a year.

Contact your internet provider today to find out if you are eligible for a discounted social tariff. It's one of the top tips from our new Get Online for Less campaign. We are also offering advice about:

- How to get a better deal if you are out of contract with your internet provider.
- Understanding your data usage and needs, so that you can save.
- How to access free public Wi-Fi safely.

Housing

Housing fraud comes at the expense of the council and the wider community. There are many different types, including unlawful subletting, housing application fraud, wrongful succession, and abandonment.

Some cases occur when family or friends try to help each other out by bypassing application processes or providing misleading information. Others are deliberate and committed purely for profit.

In April 2023, a report by the Tenancy Fraud Forum and Fraud Advisory Panel estimated that 148,000 social housing homes in England are fraudulently occupied. This puts a huge strain on councils, leaving many people on lengthy waiting lists. It also increases the risks of homelessness because homes are not available to people who need them.

Between April and November 2023, the council recovered 31 properties where there is an allegation of tenancy fraud. A further 54 properties are awaiting civil legal court action, 14 properties are awaiting eviction and we refused six housing succession applications. The CAFT also directly stopped six Right to Buy applications after investigations, adding up to a total to £767,400 in maximum discount savings.

We caught up with Sally* who was in temporary accommodation in Enfield but is now a tenant of a property that had been occupied fraudulently.

Sally said: "Living back in Waltham Forest makes a big difference to our lives. My rent is now more affordable, and I can help my mum, who lives nearby. And my daughter is happy to have a permanent home."

The council has recovered 31 properties where there is an allegation of tenancy fraud since April 2023

Cllr Ahsan Khan, Deputy Leader and Cabinet Member for Housing and Regeneration, said: "Waltham Forest Council takes allegations of fraud

extremely seriously and is committed to preventing, detecting and thoroughly investigating any fraud, corruption and dishonesty.

"Combatting housing fraud is high on our agenda, making sure that homes are made available for those that genuinely need them. These positive outcomes are testament to the hard work of our diligent CAFT and tenancy officers working together to ensure that the people who live in our properties are the lawful tenants."

ORDER 2024

The Council of the London Borough of Waltham Forest (the Council) HEREBY GIVES NOTICE that it intends on making an Order to allow for the repair and maintenance of Thames Water apparatus to be carried out in a safe and efficient manner in E11 roads.

The general effect of the Order would be, only at such times and to such extent as regulatory signs are displayed, to prohibit vehicles from entering, proceeding, waiting or loading for any purpose, at any time, in the roads or parts of roads mentioned in,

- iii) Harvey Road E11 between the western boundary of No.2 and its junction with High Road Leytonstone E11;

Whilst the prohibitions referred to in paragraph 2 above remain in force, advance warning signage and alternative routes for traffic shall be in place.

Designated controlled parking spaces situated in the parts of roads affected by the measures set out in paragraph 2 above will be suspended.

Whilst works are being carried out in the parts of roads mentioned in paragraph 2 of this notice, and only at such times and to such extent as regulatory signs are displayed, any one-way working or no-entry prohibition in those roads, or in any roads adjoining any of those roads, will be temporarily suspended.

Vehicles waiting or loading in disregard of this Order would be removed.

The prohibitions mentioned above would not apply in relation to any

NOTE: These works would not be carried out simultaneously in all roads. Signage will be placed in advance of any works in the roads mentioned in this notice which would give more specific details on the exact dates of the prohibitions, effects of any temporary traffic management and diversion routes as necessary. The works at Ashville Road and Dyson Road are expected to be completed within 1 day. The duration of the work in Harvey Road is expected to be 14 days. The Order has been extended to allow for any contingencies. (Ref: TT17(24)
